BIOGRAPHY Juliet Hart Barnett earned her doctoral degree in special education and Teaching English to Speakers of other Languages from the University of Miami in 2003. She has published over 100 peer-reviewed articles, books, chapters, reviews, scholarly newsletters, and proceedings in special education, presented to over 150 national international audiences, secured substantial external funding, and is co-author of Friendship 101: Helping Students Build Social Competence, a book on evidence-based practices in autism. A former teacher of students with emotional disorders, she researches effective strategies for students with autism spectrum disorder, quality teacher preparation, and application of research findings to classroom practice. Research activities are primarily single-subject design studies in class settings.
