BIOGRAPHY

Troy G. Schmitz is School Director and Professor in the Morrison School of Agribusiness, W. P. Carey School of Business at Arizona State University. He is also a Senior Global Futures Scholar in the ASU Global Institute of Sustainability and Innovation and is also affiliated faculty in the ASU Center for Environmental Economics and Sustainability Policy.

Professor Schmitz currently teaches a BA course titled “Global Food and Agricultural Trade” and is co-instructor for an MS course titled “American Agriculture in the Global Context”. He has taught Ph.D. courses in advanced agribusiness analysis, advanced agribusiness seminar, applied econometrics and microeconomic theory. He has taught MBA courses in managerial economics and the global business environment. He has also taught MS courses in international agricultural trade policy, applied econometrics, mathematical agricultural economics, managerial economics for agribusiness, and the agribusiness capstone. He has also taught BS and/or BA courses on food and agribusiness policy issues, problem solving and actionable analytics, economics of biofuels and biotechnology, agribusiness analysis, applied microeconomics, applied statistics, principles of microeconomics, and computer applications for agribusiness industries.

Professor Schmitz is co-author of a textbook titled “Agricultural Policy, Agribusiness, and Rent-Seeking Behaviour” (third edition 2023), three edited volumes on global food security, an edited volume titled “International Agricultural Trade Disputes: Case Studies in North America”, and an edited volume on agribusiness e-commerce. He was guest editor of a 2019 virtual issue on International Trade in the American Journal of Agricultural Economics and is a member of the editorial review board for the Journal of International and Global Economic Studies. He has published over 60 peer-reviewed journal articles in over 25 different academic journals ranging from the American Journal of Agricultural Economics to the Journal of Political Economy. Professor Schmitz has published 30 book chapters appearing in 19 different edited volumes. He is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Arizona Food Marketing Alliance.

He has been an investigator on over $25 million worth of grant proposals and has secured $2 million in externally funded grants. He performs research on a wide variety of subjects, including: global agricultural trade, food and agricultural policy analysis, food security, agricultural risk preferences, forensic economics, regulation of biotechnology, benefit-cost analysis, and economic analysis of corn, sugar, ethanol, cattle, hogs, tomatoes, cotton, coffee, barley, wheat, tobacco, soybeans, canola, and poultry markets. Portions of his work have been translated into French, Turkish, German, and Spanish.
