PUBLICATIONS & PRESENTATIONS²

Peer-reviewed Publications

(* Student co-author; Community partner co-author)

Published/Accepted for Publication

² Note on Authorship Order: In social work (and affiliated fields), the first author takes primary responsibility for the manuscript (including conceptualization, assignment of tasks, and writing) and has the final responsibility for the manuscript content. The second author generally works closely with the first author on conceptualization and writing, and may take on primary responsibility for one or more aspects of the paper (e.g., analysis, drafting the results). The third author generally does less work than the 2nd author, and the fourth author generally does less work than the 3rd author and so on and so forth (see “sequence-determines-credit” approach here). In cases where the first author is a student, it is generally true that the second author (the student's mentor) has taken primary responsibility for mentoring the student through the manuscript process, which generally involves more work than being a second author to an established scholar (see here).
