Professional Experience

2020 - Present Arizona State University, Tempe, AZ

2023 - present, Faculty of Record, SOC 101 ULC course, Learning Enterprise Instructor, Sanford School of Social and Family Dynamics

2021 - 2021, Graduate Teaching Assistant, Sanford School of Social and Family Dynamics

2021 - 2021, Course Development Assistant, Sanford School of Social and Family Dynamics

2020 – 2021, Teaching Assistant, Sanford School of Social and Family Dynamics

Key accomplishments include teaching 11-12 undergraduate sociology courses annually, with class sizes ranging from 80 – over 450 students per class. Demonstrated exceptional time management and adaptability by delivering instruction to diverse student populations across introductory and upper-division levels. Designed and tailored courses to engage and meet the needs of students while lecturing in-person to large audiences. Provided individualized mentorship in research and teaching, fostering academic growth and critical thinking among undergraduates.

2016-2021 McQueen Mackin & Associates, Phoenix, AZ

2017 – 2021 , Director of Research & Business Development

2016 - 2017, Account Manager

As Director of Research and Business Development, I led strategic donor research and communication initiatives, collaborating with CEOs and founders of non-profits to provide actionable data insights. I managed survey development and sampling to identify donor motivations, optimize retention, and drive increased giving through tailored communication strategies. Additionally, I oversaw staffing, onboarding, and project planning, aligning talent and tools to meet client needs across non-profit and for-profit sectors.

SOC 101 Course Taught (ASU Learning Enterprise Universal Learner Course, formerly Earned Admission Program)

Faculty of Record, 2023-present.

Transitioned into the Faculty of Record role after collaborating extensively with Dr. Harrison during my time as a Course Development Assistant to develop, design, and implement the Soc 101: Introduction to Sociology course. As part of the course's origination, I worked closely with Dr. Harrison to create a session-based course structure and establish a partnership cohort program with the National Education Equity Lab. This program provides students who are not currently eligible for ASU admission the opportunity to earn eligibility through successful completion of course requirements, fostering greater access to higher education. Currently, I am responsible for teaching over 1,000 students annually, supervising graduate teaching assistants, Teaching Fellows (TF's), and ensuring the delivery of high-quality instruction and academic support. SOC 101, a foundational general education course, is designed for unlimited enrollment and consistently achieves high student success and pass rates, reflecting its effective structure and accessibility. The National Education Equity Lab has been recognized as a leading model for preparing low-income students for college, achieving significant success in recent years. A program aimed at addressing educational disparities and fostering equity by enhancing access to higher education across various socio-economic demographic
